Go Away, Dark Night

Synopsis

Nobody Needs to be afraid of the dark. Poor Griffin. Every night when he turns out the lights, his room turns as black as a starless sky. He tries to be brave, but his toes curl up and his hands grow cold and his heart beats fast and his legs turn to jelly. Can someone take away the shakes and the shivers and the quakes and the quivers? Is there anybody big enough to keep him safe? Tenderly written to help calm children's fears, this delightfully illustrated tale reassures children that they are not alone in feeling afraid of the dark and offers them this comforting promise: "God's perfect love takes away fear" (1 John 4:18).

Young Griffin doesn't like the dark. Every night the dark "made his toes curl up/ and his hands grow cold/ and his heart beat fast/ and his legs turn to jelly." So Griffin turns on every light in his room and snuggles up with his teddy bear. When his mother calls to him to turn out the lights, Griffin longs to have someone stay with him so he won't be afraid of the dark. His mother tells him that God, who is bigger than either Griffin's mother or father, "can fit in your room, fit in your bed, fit in you!" That night Griffin feels God's presence in his room and sleeps peacefully, no longer afraid of the dark. Munger's soft, fuzzy watercolors feature undefined characters that don't serve the text. Higgs (The Sunflower Parable) weaves Bible verses into the story to remind children of God's presence. Ages

The darkness can be scary. But nobody needs to be afraid of the dark. That's the encouraging message in Go Away, Dark Night, the newest children's book by Liz Curtis Higgs (author of the best-selling Parable series: The Pumpkin Patch Parable, The Parable of the Lily, The Sunflower Parable, and The Pine Tree Parable). Go Away, Dark Night is the story of a young boy named Griffin who is afraid of the dark. Every night when he turns out the lights, his room turns as black as a starless sky. Griffin tries to be brave, but his toes curl up and his hands grow cold and his heart beats fast and his legs turn to jelly. If only someone could help him! Is there anybody big enough to keep him safe? Can anyone take away the shakes and the shivers and the quivers? Parents and children alike will find out what Griffin learns in this heart-warming modern children's classic, carefully crafted to help young children place their trust in the Lord.

Love Liz Curtis Higgs for us grown up readers and exceptional writer of books for the kiddies too

Loved it.

A very appropriate young christian book children will love.

Great

Precious! Liz Curtis Higgs continues to produce the quality books parents, teachers, and grandparents look forward to purchasing for their children or grandchildren. - or themselves!! The topic is so real to kids and she makes the story come alive!! Great illustrations, too!!

This is a wonderful book for children that might be a little afraid of the dark. I love all of the books I have purchased by Liz Curtis Higgs. Buying them through is very easy, delivered in very good time and great prices. Thank you!

This was our girls favorite bedtime story. I just happened to run across it at Targets. We had just moved into a new and very unfamiliar town, not to mention an unfamiliar house. This book was PERFECT! The girls were 4 and 6 at the time. Eleven years later they still enjoy this book! It has become a "must have" for every child in the family and friends for Christmas.

My 3 yo wanted it read to her every night for a while when she went through her "scared of the dark" phase.
