Field & Stream editor-at-large T. Edward Nickens has paddled, backpacked, hunted, and fished from the rainforest to the Arctic Sea. Winner of more than two dozen national writing awards, he is TV host for the Total Outdoorsman Challenge. In this book, he shares his wisdom and that of Field & Stream's outdoor experts and featured guides.

Bought this for my 12 yr old nephew who loves anything involving the outdoors, fishing, hunting, etc. He loves it and according to his mother it's the only book he'll read for more than fifteen minutes. Although it's a grown up book, it has loads of interesting and useful information for anyone whether they spend a lot of time in the wilderness or just in their own backyard.

Saw this for a bit more $$ in Lowes and was happy to find it cheaper on . Hubby hasn't been able to put it down and we'll likely buy another copy for my dad. Great guy gift for sure. Nice quality book.

I teach Hunter Education and Safety. The book helps reinforce safety and survival techniques taught in our classes. There is also a TON of information tidbits on knot tying, shelter in place and survival tips.

Total outdoorsman? An interesting book to pick up and entertain yourself with. Gives a lot of general information, but reading this will not make you a Les Stroud kind of guy, only real life training and experience can do that. An interesting read none the less.

This book was much more than I expected. A very hefty bound book.

Bought for my Boy Scout grandson.... mom as dad devoured it!!!

My girlfriend LOVED this book! I had to give it 4 stars though because she wanted the camping and survival sections to be longer and could have had less in the fishing and hunting sections.

Excellent resource to get an outdoorsman thinking. There is not a great deal of detail on each page but just enough to allow the reader a direction in which to do either further thinking or research. I found the book to be useful and a good read.
